

BAG
o' Clews

Bag O' Clews explores how creative practice in the Highlands and Islands can flourish in response to Professor Irene McAra-McWilliam's research theme, 'Distributed City' (McAra-McWilliam, 2009). Bag O' Clews is an experimental design-research platform, which takes a collaborative, cross-generational approach, and will support the understanding and development of material practices, including innovating traditional craft and textile practices, which connect to the indigenous landscape and culture of the Highlands and Islands.
